

Dining Room & Wine Bar

Leo's x Lucky Bo

Welcome to Leo's Dining Room and Wine Bar (formerly known as Leonardo's), your friendly neighbourhood restaurant. Leo's takes its name from Leonardo da Vinci, the quintessential Renaissance Man. Leo's is now collaborating with Lucky Bo Steakhouse, to bring you a selection of steaks served with their famous wagyu beef fat char kway teow. We also have an excellent selection of wines from around the world for you to try.

Buon appetito!

Leo's Famous Very Atas

The Klang dish that put us on KL's culinary map! Where else can you find Bak Kut Teh in a fine dining restaurant? And did you know it goes perfectly with a glass of red wine?

Our premium claypot Iberico Bak Kut Teh is prepared with loving care and attention. Firstly, our soup is prepared by simmering pork bones with our own proprietary blend of Bak Kut Teh herbs and spices for many hours. Then, we sous vide our Iberico pork meat with the soup to perfect fall-off-the-bone doneness, delicately infusing the Bak Kut Teh herb flavours into the meat. The dish includes enoki mushrooms, tofu pok, tofu skin and lettuce in the claypot. Served with bowl of shallot rice, yau char kway, condiments.

THE PATIALA PEG is a peg of whisky in which the amount is decided based on the height between the top of the index and base of the little finger. The name originates from the city of Patiala, in Punjab India. It is believed that the Maharaja Sir Bhupinder Singh of Patiala had a polo team that consisted of legendary Sikh warriors like himself. He invited an Irish team called Viceroy's Pride for a friendly tournament of "tent pegging". Whenever this competition was held, there would be a party the night before. Huge amounts of whisky, was served to both teams. The next day, the Irish team woke up feeling the effects of the whisky and lost the competition. From that day onwards, the Patiala team became famous for their drinking capacity.
